About Kimberly & Coach

Kimberly and Benjamin "Coach" Culbertson are a professional speaking duo on a mission to recharge, retool, and rehumanize leadership. They help corporate leaders and small business owners improve and fine-tune their team dynamics to create a highly engaged and intelligent workplace culture

Kimberly Culbertson

Kimberly helps clients to lead authentically, maximize their teams, and create an empowering culture in order to reach beyond the good to the extraordinary. Decades of leadership experience in publishing, education, non-profit, and corporate training have taught her a thing or two about how teams function, and these days she's leveraging that knowledge on behalf of leaders who are looking to release the full power of their teams. She uses tools like CliftonStrengths, Myers-Briggs, Enneagram, and 5Q to map a team and help them to curate an environment that expresses value, appreciates diversity, and harnesses collective intelligence.

Coach Culbertson

Coach helps leaders recharge their batteries through energizing and interactive presentations that have immediate real world impact. He's taught tens of thousands of corporate, military, and government IT people around the world, and he's been trained as a clown by a Ringling Bros. veteran — not a combination you can find just anywhere. He combines his vast experience in pragmatic training with his over-the-top energy to create the "infotainment" style his fans have come to know and love.
